

Thanks to modern health screening, female cancer is being caught earlier.

Unfortunately, not all critical illness policies cover women for the same number of early forms of cancer.

But our menu plan covers you for more than most.

Our critical illness cover pays out 20% of the amount of cover, up to a maximum of £15,000, if you meet our definition of any of the following early stage female only cancers:

- Ductal carcinoma in situ (an early form of breast cancer).
- Carcinoma in situ of the cervix uteri – requiring hysterectomy.
- Borderline ovarian tumour – of specified severity requiring removal of an ovary.

And if you later meet one of our main critical illness definitions, you'll still get the full amount you're covered for.

So, if you're thinking about critical illness cover, choose an insurer that takes cancer as seriously as you do.

What's next?

Talk to your financial adviser. They'll help you identify your individual protection needs and guide you through the various types of cover available to help make sure you get the right cover at the right price.

Or find out more at www.brightgrey.com

SAMPLE PAGES USED FOR REFERENCE ONLY
DO NOT COPY OR REPRODUCE WITHOUT PERMISSION

Thanks to modern health screening, female cancer is being caught earlier.

Unfortunately, not all critical illness policies cover women for the same number of early forms of cancer.

But a Bright Grey menu plan covers you for more than most.

Bright Grey's critical illness cover pays out 20% of the amount of cover, up to a maximum of £15,000, if you meet its definition of any of the following early stage female only cancers:

- Ductal carcinoma in situ (an early form of breast cancer).
- Carcinoma in situ of the cervix uteri – requiring hysterectomy.
- Borderline ovarian tumour – of specified severity requiring removal of an ovary.

And if you later meet one of its main critical illness definitions, you'll still get the full amount you're covered for.

So, if you're thinking about critical illness cover, choose an insurer that takes cancer as seriously as you do.

What's next?

Talk to <your company name>.

We'll help you identify your individual protection needs and guide you through the various types of cover available to help make sure you get the right cover for you.

Call <your name> on <your number>.

<your company name>
<your address>
<your email address>
<your web address>

<your logo>

SAMPLE PAGES USED FOR REFERENCE ONLY
DO NOT COPY OR REPRODUCE WITHOUT PERMISSION